Elba City Council Passes Tough New Leash Law

Emotional issues dominated the Elba City Council meeting Monday night. All members of the council were present for the discussions and votes in this last meeting on November.

The meeting opened with a report from Chief Ray Norris that the application for the grant to buy a motorcycle would be mailed the next morning.

Discussion of the dog leash law that had been previously recommended by Norris opened councilmen up to discussing various opinions. Two proposed leash laws were presented to the council. One was patterned after a similar law in Opp while the other was a stronger worded law patterned after the one in use in Montgomery.

The Opp law would only require that a dog owner keep his pet on his property and allow the animal control officer to pick up the dog if he stepped off the owner's personal property. Testimony by several councilmen and by the police chief indicated this would put a burden on the officer to determine the owner of every dog in town.

The Montgomery law, and the one adopted, requires that all dog owners keep their dog on a leash or in a pen at all times. The vote to approve this law was unanimous after the motion by Councilman Charles Kennert, and received a second from Councilman Sonny Imman.

During the discussion City Attorney Mark Vaughan questioned the legal right to force a person to pen an animal while it is on his own property. He noted that Montgomery hadn't had anyone challenge this, but it was possible. He said that the Opp law that required an animal to stay on the owner's property would serve the same purpose because rarely would any pet stay that close to a home without crossing the magic property line.

Mayor Bob English stated after the vote that it would cost some money to enforce the law, and received council approval for the police chief to spend the necessary funds. English stated the law would become effective either on January 1st or March 1st, "or when we are ready to enforce it." Adequate pound facilities must be constructed and it will take a fulltime dog catcher for a least a month, English said. He reminded the council that he believed in enforcing all laws and fully intended to enforce this one or insist it be changed.

The proposed tobacco tax was the next item discussed and immediately brought some negative comments from visitors to the meeting. Representatives of M.O. Carroll Co. in Ozark addressed the council and urged them not to impose this tax. They pointed out several towns that had done so and later rescinded the tax on snuff and chewing tobacco. They also showed concern over bootlegging of tobacco from out-of-town. While saying they supported the city and understood the need for tax to operate the city, they urged that some other method be found to raise the tax. They pointed out that adding 50 cents to a box of cigars would wipe out all the profits and could put one retailer at a disadvantage if he chose to raise the price the 50 cents and his competition declined and used it as a leader item. No local citizens spoke out opposing the tax; however, the council delayed necessary action to impose the tax until the next meeting. This motion was made by Councilman David Stokes, seconded by Councilman Cleo Hawkins and opposed by Councilman John W. Sharpless.

Stokes was appointed to chair a committee to study the issue and report back to the council at the December 1st meeting.

Councilman Imman reported on the appointment of a beautification committee. He noted the appointment of Dr. V. D. McCreary, Gus McCall, Loren Sawyer, Elsie Clark, Carolyn Brunson, and Ferrin Cox. They will serve with Imman on beautification plans for the downtown area.

Councilman Hawkins reported on activity of the airport committee and said grass had been cut around the runway lights, and the street department would cut the grass this week. He noted the garbage department still had not picked up the trash in the area.

Several applications have been received for airport manager and English said he would give these to the committee. Present at the meeting were Freddie Sessions of Kinston and George Moore of Andalusia. They said they planned to submit an application from M & M Flying Service of Andalusia and proposed to offer several services including flight training. One other application will include a proposal to operate a maintenance shop with the city building a shop and receiving a percentage of the gross.

The Go-Kart committee reported it had not prepared anything for presentation to the council and would do so prior to the next meeting. The health insurance of the City Council is up for renewal and an insurance committee was appointed to compare various plans. Appointed to this committee are Councilman Sharpless, Kennert and Mayor English.

Ed Cowen, representing the Elba Jaycees requested the council give $250 to the Christmas Parade to buy candy for the fireman to throw and to feed bandmen from New Brockton, Zion Chapel, and Kinston who would be marching in the parade. After a discussion on the legal aspects of such action, a motion to make the donation was made by Stokes but failed to receive a second. English and several councilmen stated they would make personal donations to the fund.

English reported the street department had patched several streets but had stopped and all available men were in Mulberry cleaning ditches to prepare the area for letting of bids on the federally funded drainage project. He said the street department had received 130 requests for help and had completed all but three by Monday.

NOTICE

Reports Record

Net Earnings

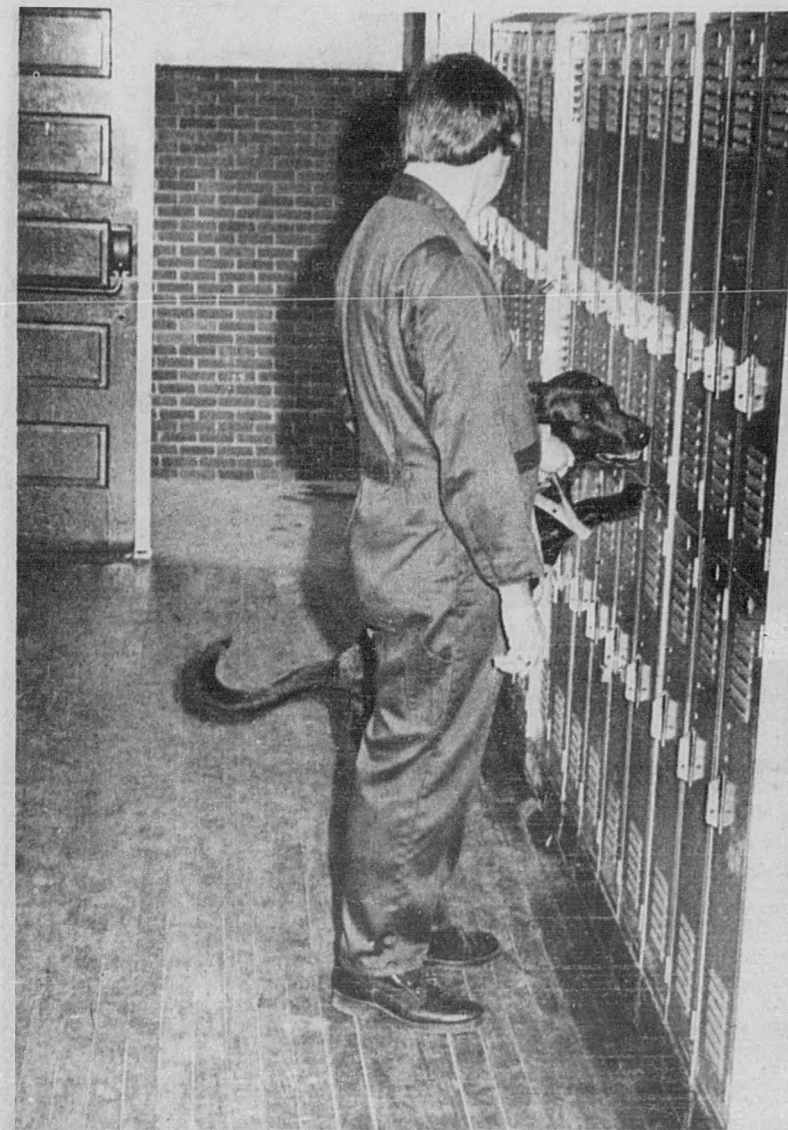

The National Security Insurance Company reported record statutory net operating earnings for the nine months ended September 30, 1980 of $1,351,139 or $1.30 per share, up 17% over net operating earnings of $1,152,696, or $1.11 share for the same period last year. Premium income for the first nine months of this year was $14,114,638, down from $15,262,272 for the comparable period a year ago.

For the three months ended September 30, 1980 net operating earnings were $541,688, or 52 cents per share compared with $9,145 or 1 cent share for the same quarter in 1979. Premium income for the third quarter this year was $4,646,791, down from $5,079,328 for the same quarter of 1979.

Commenting on the results, Mr. J.R. Brunson, President, said, "In spite of a decline in premium income for the nine months, we are pleased to report record net operating earnings of $1.30 per share.

The earning figures for the third quarter of 1979 reflect the underwriting losses caused by Hurricane Frederic.

With its home office in Elba, National Security Insurance Company sells a complete line of life, fire, and casualty insurance policies. Its shares are traded in the Over-the-Counter market under the NASDAQ symbol NSIC.

Elba High School Receives Driving Simulators

The Driver Education Program at Elba High School received valuable learning aids last week when the State Department of Education delivered 10 modern driving simulation machines to the school.

There are three basic components of simulation—student unit, instructor's console and wide screened programmed films. The student unit, or simulation car, is similar in control design and instrumentation to late model design and instrumentation to late model American automobiles to facilitate student transition to actual vehicles. Each student is notified when he makes an incorrect response, through an individual feedback panel located atop each car. The instructor's console, or student evaluation device, provides a record of student responses on the operational controls. These recorded responses, along with the teacher's observations on student performance, provide an effective means of evaluating all the students as the driving responses occur. The wide screen films utilized in simulation are coded in order to identify the responses performed by the student. Within each film, there is a planned progression of situations to provide the student with increasingly challenging experiences from sequence to sequence.

Simply defined, simulation means that in a classroom there is created a life-like driving situation which, except for actual car motion, duplicates the environment of driving. Students in classroom drive simulated cars through traffic situations presented on wide screen, full color, sound motion pictures, so they can learn basic driving procedures first in a "collision proof" environment. In simulation, the driving is more than just a safe way to practice a drive through a city street. Each film is designed so that students learn to identify important driving cues, predict accurately the potential order of these cues, decide which responses will insure safe driving, and execute the responses properly. Although simulation is characterized by classroom devices and simulated driving situations, the technique has proved very effective in the development of good

School officials report the objectives of the program are—to develop proper perceptual, judgmental, and decision making capabilities relative to driving; to make driver education available to more students; to decrease program costs in the driver education program; to provide learning experiences in a variety of simulated driving environments, and to develop responses and manipulative skills.

Graddick Warns Of Crooks

The holiday season is one of happiness and rejoicing. But for some, says Attorney General Charles A. Graddick, it becomes a nightmare when gift shopping plans go awry.

"Informed consumers—those who know what to look for when they are shopping—are less likely to fall prey to fly-by-night merchants and con artists than those who have failed to educate themselves in consumer protection," Graddick said.

He explained that knowing store policies, checking warranties and contracts and dealing only with reputable businesses are good shopping practices any time. But during the holiday season they are of utmost importance.

Graddick said the Attorney General's Consumer Protection Division receives many complaints during and right after the holiday season from consumers who either have been bilked out of their money by unscrupulous persons or who failed to find out what store policies were before they made their purchases.

Most reputable businesses post return and refund policies so customers can have that information. If it is not posted, ask a clerk or someone in the business office, advised Graddick. Be sure you inform gift recipients of return policies, too.

Many stores offer lay-away plans, in which the store holds the merchandise until it is paid for. Check to see if the store will give a refund in the event you cannot pay out the lay-away.

Graddick urged consumers to read and understand any warranties which come with their purchases.

"Know what your rights and responsibilities are under warranty. Know what is and what is not included, such as—whether or not the entire product or just parts are covered and who will make repairs."

He also said consumers should know what contracts say when they make credit purchases. "Many people buy large appliances and automobiles for Christmas gifts," he said. "It is important to know what is in the contract. Many people do not know they are supposed to get a copy of the contract, and when they have problems, have no proof of the purchase and no record of what their responsibilities were under the contract."

Graddick warned against consumers buying gift items just because they are "on sale," "marked down," or a "special discount." "Buy items you can thoroughly inspect," the Attorney General said. "Comparison shop. You may be able to find the same product elsewhere for less."

Tag Lines Were Long Last Week

Despite the certainty of long lines and hours of waiting, over 1000 local residents waited until the final days of tag buying season to purchase their 1981 automobile tags. A check with the Probate Office in Elba this week showed that 793 tags were purchased on Friday, Nov. 14, 314 on Saturday, Nov. 14 and 229 on Monday, Nov. 17 (an extra day added due to the long lines all across the county).

The tag buyers kept County offices open until 9:00 p.m. on Friday, but as Clerk Neil Harrison stated, "The last days are always the busiest."

COLORED BACKGROUND

Brainstorms

With Fern Cox

We keep hearing reports on the national news that when Reagan takes over as president of these United States, the Henry Kissinger will play a major role in our foreign policy. This upsets the old editor very much. We don't disagree with the idea that he is smart. . . maybe too smart; his ideas have gotten us into some of the problems we are suffering through now, and to put him back would be that third strike.

Monday night at the Elba City Council meeting we heard some complaints addressed to the Council about the proposed tobacco tax. Those that took the most time complaining left the editor with the impression they were for needed taxes . . . on the other fellow. In fact, they said they understood the need for taxes and were not opposed, but it should come from some other source. We agree - but since we long ago put down our pipe smoking, this particular tax doesn't directly cost us, and so . . . they may be real reasons not to pass a tobacco tax, but we didn't hear them Monday night.

The Elba City Council also passed a dog leash law Monday night. This will make it mandatory for dog owners to confine their dogs AT ALL TIMES. We discussed this and wrote about it for several weeks prior to the passing, and the vast majority of citizens who mentioned it to councilmen were in favor of the law. Now we are hearing some complaints from dog owners. This is not unexpected because those of us who own dogs know that our pets are harmless, or only bite mean folks that need biting. The law was passed Monday night, and during the discussion, the old editor could only think about the mess in my yard Monday morning when some dog (or dogs) had overturned the garbage cart, knocked the lid off the can and tore open a bag of garbage, leaving a mess in our yard. With all due respect to our friends who may oppose the new law, we fully support it . . . if it will be enforced on all citizens equally.

Now it is disagreeing time. We feel a little disappointed in the way the city fathers have handled the request for financial help for the annual Christmas parade. We understand the law forbidding donations to private clubs or groups, but we also understand a lot of other things. The $280 is not a real big problem, as it will be no problem to raise the money as donations . . . in fact several city officials offered to personally donate. Instead of saying they couldn't legally donate the funds, we feel they should have said, "Sure, we'll feed the bands." (They legally feed visiting government or business wheels regularly), and they should have been fighting the Elba Jaycees to be the first with the idea of sponsoring the Christmas parade. By the way, the annual Christmas parade is scheduled for Saturday, December 13, at 2:00 p.m.

Brewton Football Player Is Actor

The first time Roy Tatum appeared on TV, he was an Auburn football player, and the host of the show was the late Shug Jordan.

Tatum, who plays Eric Whyte, the wildlife photographer-hero of "Don't Change My World," caught the acting bug that day. But he carried his love of football through two years as Jordan's assistant before deciding, ten years ago, to dedicate himself to an acting career. He is a native of Brewton, Alabama.

Tatum was initially a stunt actor and enjoys doing many of his own stunts today. "I believe it adds dimension and believability to a role for an actor to do his own stunts," he says, also making comparisons between an athlete's and an actor's awareness of his body.

Tatum's first feature film was "The Farmer," starring Gary Conway. He later appeared in "Creature From Black Lake" with Jack Elam and "The Great Georgia Bank Heist" with Richard Basehart and Burgess Meredith. Most recently he was seen as an anti-uniform foreman in the academy-award-winning "Norma Rae."

Recent television roles included the part of one of Jim Jones' lieutenants in the Emmy award-winning "The Gynova Tragedy," as well as the officer who arrests Dennis Weaver in "The Ordeal of Dr. Mudd."

Tatum and his wife, a former dancer, live with their two small sons in Atlanta. His next scheduled release is "Cannonball Run," starring Burt Reynolds.

ZC Honors Veterans

BY ROBBIN DAY

We all know veterans are the men and women that have kept our country free, and on Monday, November 10, 1980, Zion Chapel High School remembered these brave and proud citizens of the United States with a program presented by some of Mrs. Stinson's fifth graders.

The pledge of allegiance was led by Scott Chancellor and recited by all of the students. Mrs. Stinson then gave a short speech followed by the prayer led by Jackie Parrish. The band then performed several patriotic songs. We believe this assembly has enabled us to more fully understand and respect the sacrifices that all veterans have gone through. That through these sacrifices and their loyalty and unselfishness to our country we have remained a free nation.

FFA On The Move

BY RHONDA HUSSEY

The Future Farmers of America at Zion Chapel High School held its second meeting for this year on November 6, 1980, in the Agri. Business Department. The meeting was called to order by President Luke Maddox. Afterwards, Vice President Daniel Sanders saw that all members were at their designated stations. Next, Secretary Mark Sanders called the roll and distributed the membership cards.

The club then discussed what the money made off of the orange sales would be used to buy. Lastly, the Vice President asked the members questions concerning FFA. Donnie Hussey was a FFA T-shirt in answer to the most correct questions. The club then pledged allegiance to the American Flag and President Luke Maddox adjourned the meeting.

Start a part-time career before you graduate high school.

In the Army Reserve, you can begin to learn a skill and earn an extra income during your last six months of high school. Get a head start on a skill in communications, auto mechanics, a medical specialty or any one of the wide variety of skills, depending on your qualifications and the needs of your Reserve unit.

You start to learn and practice your skill 16 hours a month, usually a weekend with your local unit. And you earn over $200 a month.

After graduation, you get in shape in Basic Training. Then you're sent to a top-level Army Reserve unit. And you can even be sent between two consecutive units.

Back home, you continue to serve part-time in your local unit. Of course, you keep earning that extra income. The Army Reserve is a good way to get some valuable work experience before you even begin a full-time job.

NEWS from your PHARMACIST
BY: KRIS SCARBOROUGH

We read often these days about Psychiatrists, Psychoanalysts and Psychologists. Frequently the question is asked: "Who are these men?"

A Psychiatrist is a physician who specializes in the care and treatment of mentally ill people. In addition to a doctor's degree in medicine, he must have three years of basic training in a hospital approved for teaching about the mentally ill and also two years practice in his specialty. Only then can he be certified by an examination of the American Board of Psychiatry and Neurology, Inc.

In other words they are highly trained specialists. Their work is of such a delicate nature, and of such vital importance that these men rank in the top bracket of medicine.

Student Council Presents Veterans Day Program

The Sr. High Student Council presented a program honoring the Veterans of American Wars and also the present Iranian hostages on Thursday, November 6.

The first observance of Veterans Day was on November 11, 1918. The Allies and Germans signed an armistice on November 11, 1918, to cease the armed conflict of World War I. This armistice was for a period of one month and was renewed until the peace treaty was signed.

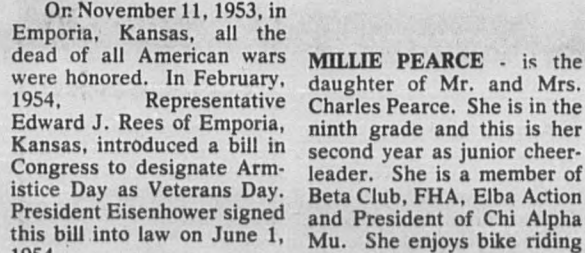

President Woodrow Wilson, in a proclamation on November 11, 1919, stated that "Reflections of Armistice Day will be filled with solemn pride in the heroism of those who died in the country's service and with gratitude for the victory, both because of the thing from which it has freed us and because of the opportunity it has given America to show her sympathy with peace and justice in the councils of the nations."

In 1921 an unknown American soldier was selected from four caskets disinterred from the war cemeteries in France. This unknown soldier was returned to America, and on Armistice Day at 11:00 a.m. was placed in a crypt at Arlington National Cemetery. The hour of the interment was a memorial to the hour in which the armistice was signed. Two minutes of silence were observed and flags were flown at half-staff from sunrise to sunset.

On November 11, 1953, in Emporia, Kansas, all the dead of all American wars were honored. In February, 1954, a Representative Edward J. Rees of Emporia, Kansas, introduced a bill in Congress to designate Armistice Day as Veterans Day. President Eisenhower signed this bill into law on June 1, 1954.

Enterprise & Troy Post Wins In State Playoffs

The Alabama High School Athletic Association started its 1980 high school football playoffs last week and included among the winners were Troy and Enterprise. Troy posted a 12-10 win over Eufaula, and Enterprise romped past Baldwin County 37-9.

Sanson found the going a little too tough, however, and was eliminated by McKenzie in a 30-0 loss.

TROY 12 - EUFULA 10

Troy rallied from a 10-0 deficit in the opening stanza to move ahead 12-10 at the half, and then turned things over to their defense as an held on to post a 12-10 win over Eufaula. Troy received the opening kick and after a clipping penalty, put the ball in play on their own 9-yard line. The Trojans fumbled on their third play and Enterprise's Derrick Richardson recovered on the 15. Eufaula could not move in for the score, but did manage to take a 3-0 lead when Steve Baker booted a 27-yard field goal.

Troy got a break on a minus 9-yard punt midway through the first quarter to put the ball in play near midfield, only to fumble again and give the ball back to Eufaula. The Tigers' Chris Woodward ramled 47 yards for a touchdown on an option, and Baker's p.a.t.

was true, to up Eufaula's lead to 10-0. The Trojans got another break when they recovered a Eufaula fumble on the 30, and this time they cashed it in for a touchdown. The score came on a 9-yard run by Kenny Smith, but the extra point sailed wide, as Eufaula's lead stood at 10-6.

Eufaula moved into Trojan territory late in the stanza and gambled on a fake punt on fourth down and 3. The gamble didn't pay off, however, as the play resulted in a 10-yard loss, and Troy took over on the Tigers' 47-yard line. Jerry Beverly broke loose for a 38-yard gain on first down and scored two plays later to put Troy on top 12-10 at the half.

The Trojans controlled the third quarter and got inside the Eufaula 20-yard line, only to fumble away the scoring opportunity. Eufaula moved inside the Troy 1-yard line late in the game, only to turn the favor with a fumble of their own. The visiting Tigers had one last chance in the closing seconds when they moved to the 10, and this time they cashed it in for a touchdown. The final points came on a 4-yard run by Stacey Watson, to make the final score 37-9.

ENTERPRISE 37 - BALDWIN CO. 9

Enterprise jumped out to an early lead and rolled to a lopsided 37-9 win over Baldwin County. A Gene Lolley-to-Craig Florence pass covered 10 yards and resulted in a score to give the Cats an early lead, which grew to 13-0 only moments later on a 65-yard run by Alan Evans. Baldwin County cut the lead to 13-6 and appeared ready to make a game of it, but a 67-yard punt return by Craig Florence and a 2-point conversion upped the margin to 21-6, and all but settled the outcome. Baldwin County added a field goal

McKENZIE 30 - SAMSON 0

McKenzie used a strong offense and a stingy defense to post a stunning 30-0 rout over the previously unbeaten Samson Tigers. A pair of touchdown runs of 11 and 2 yards, and a 35-yard field goal put McKenzie on top 17-0 at the half, with both scores coming by star runner Sam Adams. Adams pulled in a 24-yard scoring toss and Remus Davison ramled 38 yards for McKenzie's second half touchdowns. Samson put the ball in play in McKenzie territory only twice the entire contest.

Fifty-Eight Drivers Compete In Weekly Go-Kart Races At Speedway

Racing continued last Saturday night at the Elba Go-Kart Speedway with 58 drivers entered in the "9-13 Stock Appearing" race, which was won by Scott Oglesby. The "Micro-Midget" feature was a three man race and it was Joe Daugherty and Remus Davison ramled 38 yards for McKenzie's second half touchdowns. Samson put the ball in play in McKenzie territory only twice the entire contest.

Between our first and second units, but everyone has worked hard and we've got a lot of work done. The tourney has a strong field, but we may as well find out early what we can do.

"Following the tourney," said Cole, "we have 3 straight road games at Dozier, Northview and Georgiana, and then come home to play 4A Ozark. Our season gets tough in a hurry and doesn't lighten up. We haven't been able to get in a real competitive scrimmage due to the difference in talent

JAN MOORE, who did not play basketball her senior year in high school because Kinston did not field a women's team, has been impressive during pre-season practice at Lurien B. Wallace State Junior College in Andalusia. Miss Moore, an all-around athlete, has shown a lot of hustle and desire. She was expected to be in the starting line-up for the Lady Saints Tuesday night when LBW opened their 1980-81 season in Enterprise. The "Lady Saints" will play their first home game on November 25, against Chipola Junior College. Women's games begin at 5:30 p.m.

Wayne Parker picked off 5 interceptions to lead the team. Derrick Boutwell had 2, as did Mike Smith. Getting 1 interception were Ted Horstead, Don Horstead and Mike Amison.

Eddie Coleman recovered 4 fumbles to lead the squad. Stewart Bane had 3 and Steve Whitehurst recovered 2. Getting 1 fumble were David Dorsey, Wayne Parker, Ken Owens, Derrick Boutwell, Greg Hudson and Dwayne Hooks.

Eddie Coleman, one of Elba's top defensive players ever, also led in tackles for losses, with 22 tackles behind the line for 94 yards in losses. Don Horstead made 14 tackles for 43 yards in losses, while Stewart Bane, Derrick Boutwell, Greg Hudson and Shane Meek all had 3 tackles behind the line.

Coleman led in quarterback sacks with 10, followed by Doug Daniels with 7 and Stewart Bane with 2.

Dr. James Whitman Visits

London

Dr. James Whitman of the Department of English at the University of South Alabama took part in a seminar on "Shakespeare: Poet and Playwright," held at Stratford-on-Avon, near London, England. He was one of 12 American scholars attending the event which was sponsored by the National Endowment for the Humanities. "The prospect of researching Shakespeare at his place of birth was incredible," the professor said, "and NEH received a record number of applications. It was a happy coincidence for me that among those accepted was Elaine Kalmar, former member of the English faculty at South Alabama who now teaches at the University of Northern Iowa. The University of West Florida and Auburn University were also represented, which means that three of the 12 were from the Southeast." The seminar was designed and directed by Dr. Marvin Rosenberg of the University of California at Berkeley, an acknowledged expert in the area. When the seminar was over, one month of summer over, the two scholars remained for Dr. Whitman to join his family in France. His wife, Marie Christine, is a native of Blois, and she had taken their young daughters, Isabelle, 3, and 9-month-old Claire, to visit their grandparents.

Dr. Whitman's mother is Mrs. J.D. Whitman, of Elba. The seminar was held last summer.

WOODLANDS, ONE-HALF ACRE BETWEEN US AND THE COLD

We cannot stress enough the importance of our woodlands. We rely heavily upon this natural resource for many of our everyday articles. Among these are lumber for houses and barns, paper and pulp materials, and logs for telephone and light poles and fence posts. Today, there is approximately one-half acre of woodland per person in the United States, to produce these and many other much-needed products. They are useful in the conservation of soil and water and they provide habitats for wildlife.

Correct management is the key to protecting and getting the most production from our woodland acreage. Farmers should consider woodland acreage as another farm product to maximize production. Coffee County has approximately 234,000 acres of woodland today, with about 60% of this acreage under improper management. Without the proper management, Coffee Countians may soon see faced with depletion of woodland products. Alabama Forestry Commission, Soil Conservation Service and Extension Service cooperating together are able to give woodland landowners information on proper management practices for the different species being grown.

Timber production is dependent on the number of desirable trees growing on each acre. An initial inventory of the woodland acreage is therefore necessary before proper thinning or stocking recommendations can be given. This inventory will indicate the amount of merchantable trees, the number of good seed trees, and the number of undesirable or defective trees on the woodland acreage. Also, before any recommendations can be given, the woodland landowner should have some ideas as to the products he desires, and has the time and labor available to produce. Should the inventory indicate thinning practices to be necessary, there are two routes that can be taken to accomplish this. First, mechanical control of undesirable trees can be done by stripping a band of bark around a tree either with an axe or mechanical girdler. This method usually works best on trees over 12 inches in diameter at breast height. For smaller trees, a second method, chemical control, can be used. This method consists of using chemicals or herbicides on the undesirable growth. If chemical control measures are to be used, label directions should always be followed.

If the woodland inventory indicates stocking needs, trees of all species can usually be ordered from one of the three state nurseries. These are: (1) the Auburn Nursery, Rt. 1, Box 136, Opelika, AL 36801; (2) The Edward A. Hauss Nursery, Rt. 3, Box 322, Atmore, AL 36602; and (3) the John R. Miller Nursery, Box 248, Autaugaugille, AL 36603.

Plenty of newly received tree seedlings need to be done properly to insure a good stand. The local Soil Conservation Service has several pamphlets designed to help woodland landowners. Also, the Alabama State Forestry Commission has trained personnel to assist you with site preparation, planting seedlings and seedling applications. Forestry personnel in this area can be reached by writing or calling the Coffee County Forestry Commission Office in New Brockton, AL phone 894-6734.

Woodlands are important to us and future generations to come. Without the proper care, by one day wake up to find this vital resource depleted or destroyed. If you would like our help on a woodland plan or desire any information, contact your local SCS office at 894-6332 or P.O. Box 339, New Brockton, AL 36351.

New Brockton Opens Season Friday Night In Ashford Tip-Off Tourney

The New Brockton Gamecocks, picked by many as the team to beat in 2A cage circles, open their basketball season tomorrow night (Friday) when they play in the Ashford Tip-Off Tournament in Ashford.

The tourney opens tonight (Thursday) at 6:30 when Ozark meets Eufaula, followed by an 8:00 clash between Northview and Rehoboth. On Friday, it will be New Brockton vs. the Northview-Rehoboth winner at 6:30, and Ashford vs. the Ozark-Eufaula winner at 8:00. The consolation and championship games will be on Saturday.

New Brockton, who returns all 5 starters from last season's 19-9 club, concluded their second week of practice on Friday, and Coach Charles Cole reports "practice went fine."

"We went into the week hoping to put in our offense and defense," said Cole in a recent interview, "and things went pretty well. I wasn't satisfied with our passing game, but otherwise things looked okay. We worked on our press and out-of-bounds plays to get ready for the tourney, and I have to admit there is no way we can be completely ready. The tourney made us hurry up for a little, and even though we need at least another week of work, we will do the best we can."

"Our offense looked real good last week," added Cole, "and I think our players like our running game. Our passes haven't been real sharp on the fast-break, but we've got a lot of movement and hope to be able to use a fast-paced attack. The boys know what we want them to do, and maybe 2 years of experience will help get them ready."

Thomas, Ricky Nelson and Robert Wilson have all started for 2 years. Defensively, we spent a lot of time on the press and a lot of time on defense. We haven't been able to get in a real competitive scrimmage

TAX HELP

If you are farming, do you realize that you may be eligible for a tax refund on your 1977, 1978 and 1979 returns? According to Jean McDaniel, a tax expert in Enterprise, many Coffee County farmers based on their disastrous crop year may be eligible for tax rebates if taxes were paid in 1977, 1978 and 1979.

To help answer a lot of questions on investment credit, depreciation, net operating losses and other tax tips, we have arranged a special tax meeting for tomorrow night. This program, which I urge Coffee County farmers to attend, will be held in the Community Room at the Farm Center, beginning at 6:30 p.m. Jean McDaniel and Joan Powell of Enterprise will lead the discussion.

IF YOU ARE INTERESTED

In this, be sure to come and be with us at 6:30 Tuesday night in the Community Room in New Brockton.

HARVESTING LOSSES

Bill Mayfield, one of our Extension Engineers at Auburn, pointed out to me recently that we normally lose 10-12 percent of the soybean harvest. In 1968 a state-wide survey showed that losses averaged 14 percent. In 1977 these losses had been cut to about 10 percent.

A 10 percent loss on 20 bushel beans in 2 bushels. This would be a loss of $15 to $16 per acre—a very high loss.

Mayfield said it is very important to know where the losses are occurring. Are the beans being left on the stalk? Are they shattered and lost on the ground? Are the beans riding through the combine and going out? It is important to know where the losses are occurring in order to make adjustments.

We have a bulletin R-44 which is excellent in helping to determine where losses are occurring. Call us to get a copy.

HELPFUL

The farm irrigation and farm financing meeting attracted about 120 Coffee County farmers. Larry Curtis, irrigation engineer, did an excellent job in presenting facts on irrigation. Bill Hughes of the Soil Conservation Service discussed water supplies and other factors relating to having sufficient water for irrigation.

Most farmers were interested in the financing programs available to them now. Mr. John Roper, Small Business Administration representative, explained their program in detail. Mr. Tom Yardley, representative of the Alabama Agricultural Development Authority, explained this new program. Other participants on the program included Jimmy Bowden and Wendell Murrah of the Wiregrass Production Credit Association. James Prigden of the Enterprise Federal Land Bank, Randy Johnson of the Farmers Home Administration in Coffee County, and Fred Clark of the Elba Exchange Bank.

I know that this meeting was beneficial to a great number of those attending. It is not good business to have to borrow a lot of money. On the other hand, most Coffee County farmers find themselves in an emergency situation as it relates to farm financing. It is a great thing to have lending agencies who can make farm loans to help farmers work out of their dilemma.

Incidentally, Mr. Wendell Murrah commented on the fact that if a farmer is presently borrowing from one source, it might be good to stick with that firm for his 1981 needs. Of course, as Murrah pointed out, each firm situation is different, and some farmers will have to seek other sources. But each case will have to be handled on an individual basis.

PEANUT PROGRAM

James Earl Mobley, president of the Alabama Peanut Producers Association, spoke to farmers gathered in New Brockton Tuesday. He pointed out that Sen. Jesse Helms from North Carolina should be a firm supporter of Alabama peanut producers. Sen. Helms may replace Senator Talmadge of Georgia who was not re-elected as a member of the Senate Agriculture Committee.

Mobley pointed out that the peanut producers were going to ask for a support price of about $550 per ton for the 1981 peanut crop. In addition, Mobley said that they were asking the administration not to impose a 5 percent decrease in poundage quota for the 1981 crop.

If you are interested in this, be sure to come and be with us at 6:30 Tuesday night in the Community Room in New Brockton.

FORESTRY IN ALABAMA

Two thirds of Alabama's 32.7 million acres of land is forested. 75 percent of the soybean harvest. In 1968 a state-wide survey showed that losses averaged 14 percent. In 1977 these losses had been cut to about 10 percent.

Harvest of the state's commercial forest exceeds 800 million cubic feet of wood each year. Some 2 million board feet of logs go into lumber, plywood, and other products, while round pulpwood amounts to 10 million cords.

Value of the annual wood harvest is over $250 million when cut. This escalates to $500 million when delivered to the mill. Alabama plants manufacturing forest products have an annual gross income exceeding $3 billion.

Industries utilizing forest products are Alabama's largest in terms of value added in manufacturing. The $1.4 billion in value added for forest products compares with $1.0 billion for steel, $0.8 billion for chemicals, and $0.7 billion for textiles according to 1977 census figures. The states forest industry has grown since 1960 at a compound rate of nearly 12 percent per year, which is the nations highest for forest products growth rate.

Since forest industries get their raw materials and labor in Alabama but sell 70 percent of their products outside the state, the impact on the state's economy is tremendous. In fact, forestry's economic multipliers average 16-22 percent higher than those of other industries. Employment in the forest industries in 1977 (42,500) accounted for more than 12 percent of the state's manufacturing employment. The annual payroll amounted to more than $500 million.

This tremendous return is being reaped from forestland which, for the most part, is operating at only about half of its production potential. Alabama's forest products industry has already announced expansion plans which will increase current productivity by 25 percent. Since only 64 percent of current wood growth is being used each year, existing forest resources can support the planned expansion. Even greater expansion is coming and greater forest production will be needed. To meet these needs development and adoption of up to date technology and the implementation and supervision of said technology in the forests of Alabama must be accomplished to insure an ample supply of wood for manufacturing.

In order to achieve these results in the future we must have increases in funding for teaching and research in forestry at our universities and for increased management assistance, fire protection, and tree seedling production through the Alabama Forestry Commission. More adequate funding in these areas to increase forest productivity will be returned manyfold to the people of Coffee County and the state of Alabama as a whole through its impact on the economy.

For more information contact the Coffee County Office of the Alabama Forestry Commission in New Brockton at 894-6734.

Brundidge All-Breed Swine Seedstock Sale Set For Saturday, Nov. 22

The Second Brundidge All-Breed Swine Seedstock Sale on Saturday, November 22 will afford area farmers and breeders an excellent opportunity to get ready for a profitable 1981, says Joseph E. Harbuck, Jr., of Pronto Swine Breeders, a sponsor who is consigning registered Yorkshires to the event.

"Hog producers, who have suffered from the bad markets of 1980, can look forward to much better times in 1981, according to market analysts," Harbuck says. "Prices are expected to range around $50 per hundred for market hogs by the end of December with a steady increase into next year. Ordinarily, such a situation would bring back most producers who dropped out during the bad markets of 1980, but history shows that most farmers wait too late to take full advantage of price progression. They wait to get in until the market hits its peak, and is ready to turn down again," said another sponsor, George E. Trawick, of Kay-Tee Farms, Arant, who is consigning registered Durocs.

Jim Radd, of Geneva, believes grain shortages may keep many large commercial operations from expanding at this time, thereby extending the upcoming period of improved prices and presenting the farmer who has pasture facilities the chance to get a step ahead.

"The family farmer who starts rye grass as late as September, said another sponsor, George E. Trawick, of Kay-Tee Farms, Arant, who is consigning registered Durocs. "Right now, the farmer should expand and improve his breeding herd while the cost is still moderate and he has time to prepare for a profitable crop of spring pigs," says Mr. Radd, who is consigning Spots and Durocs. Dale Gavin, of Apopka, Florida is also bringing Spots and E. Sturgis of End, Mississippi has consigned Yorks. Carroll and Jimmy Bullard will have Poland and Landrace from Abel, Georgia while Phil and Darin Moseley, Hartford, Alabama, will bring a consignment of Chester Whites that includes the Grand Champion boar at the National Peanut Festival and 1st place March boar at the Montgomery Alabama State Fair.

"We have invited only those breeders who will bring their best," said Trawick, who is coordinator of the event. He pointed out that both Radd and he are bringing progeny of Liberty Bell, the 1976 National Champion Duroc boar that sold for $25,000 to Stro-Wold International of Bowling Green, Missouri. "The other breeders are also bringing top bloodlines, including Steve Ingram, Banks, Alabama, whose Durocs received good acceptance from buyers at the previous Brundidge Invitational, Trawick said.

The Brundidge show starts at Noon this Saturday, November 22, at which time the National Peanut Festival and 1st place March boar at the Montgomery Alabama State Fair.

The contest starts at 1:00 p.m. under direction of Dr. James Danion, Auburn swine specialist. The sale commences at 2:00 p.m. (CST) with Buddy McCullough, Morris Chapel, Tennessee the auctioneer. Over 150 boars, gilts, and bred gilts will be auctioned.

TURKEY

There's good news for you! The turkey crop is excellent this year. This means that turkey will continue to be plentiful in the markets and at an attractive price compared to other meats.

QUICK HOLIDAY DESSERT

Getting ready for holidays includes planning and preparing special treats. Now is the time to start stringing away quick dessert recipes

Make the most of the time you spend sewing.

This can stretch your budget and your wardrobe. Compare the cost of ready-made and home-sewn garments. Spend your time making things that will save you the most money. Suits, coats, dresses, skirts and slacks are your best bets. Use the same pattern to make several garments. Vary them by using different fabrics and trims.

Sew multiples of easy-to-make garments like skirts and use the savings to buy coordinating blazer. Use fabric and patterns you've stored away—they represent dollars already spent.

Another important point is that people have found out what a great meat turkey is.

This year, up to September 30, consumers had consumed more than 18 percent more turkey than they had in the same period the year before. Much of this increased turkey consumption is a result of the rapidly-growing popularity of turkey parts, roasts and further processed meats such as turkey hot dogs, turkey pastrami and ground turkey.

Singing To Be Held At Weeks Assembly

There will be a singing this Saturday night, Nov. 22 at 7:15 at Weeks Assembly of God.

The feature singers will be The Register Family.

Refreshments will be served. Pastor, Minister and members invite everyone to come and join them.

"And it shall be that when they make a long blast with the ram's horn, and when you hear the sound of the trumpet, all the people shall shout with a great shout; and the wall of the city will fall down flat, and the people will go up every man straight ahead. (Joshua 6:5).

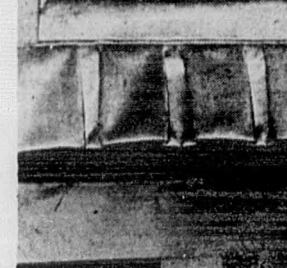

The shout of steadfast faith is in direct contrast to the moans of wavering hearts.

Among the many "secrets of the Lord," I do not know of any that is more valuable than the secret of this shout of faith. The Lord said to Joshua, "See, I have given into thine hand Jericho, and the king thereof, and the mighty men of valor." He had not said, "I will give," but "I have given." It belonged to them already, and now they were called to take possession of it. But the great question was: How? It looked impossible, but the Lord declared His plan.

Now, no one can suppose for a moment that this shout caused the walls to fall flat.

And yet, the secret of their victory lay in just this shout, for it was the shout of a faith which dared, on the authority of God's Word alone, to claim a promised victory, while as yet there were no signs of this victory being accomplished. And, according to their faith, God did unto them; so that, when they shouted, the city, and faith reckoned this to be true. And long centuries afterwards, the Holy Ghost recorded this triumph of faith.
